Introduction

WHAT IS CAPEU

Since its establishment beginning April 2013, CAPEU has provided a valuable platform and an opportunity for members to enhance, promote, engage and integrate international education besides the annual activities including conferences, seminars, publications, professional attachment and joint-community services.

The Consortium of Asia Pacific Education Universities (CAPEU) is a non-profit organization consists of higher education institutions in Asia Pacific countries committed to promote, engage, transform and integrate ideas, findings, best practices, research, publication and community development with the focus on Education and Academia.

The benefits of this Consortium are:

- Provide a platform for dialogue and networking with members;
- Enhance opportunities to promote, engage and integrate international education;
- Disseminating and hosting journal articles, books/e-book or any publication covering education issues;

- Professional Development Centre (programme accreditation, professional attachment, faculty exchange, joint-community services);
- Showcasing best practices and niche areas of each member in Asia-Pacific countries on Education.

CAPEU greatly appreciates contributions and supports to the education activities and projects in the Asia-Pacific region by members. CAPEU is optimistic that positive networking among members will be able to shine in improving the quality of education in the Asia-Pacific region as well as to create healthy competition with developed countries in other continents. All of this requires continuous commitment, dedication and cooperation from all of us and therefore, let us work together as a successful global player.
